WAITING AND HOPING.

England Doesn't Yet Know the Extent of Her Loss.

London, Jan. 28(Sunday).—Anxious England is still without anything to explain the Spion Kop mystery. Once more at a time of special tension one of the South African cables has broken and consequently news can be expected only in dribbles and very much belated. Meanwhile all sorts of strange rumors reach here from continental sources. One of these says that General Warren was lured up on Spion Kop and he lost seventeen guns. The war office has heard no such report and the story may be dismissed as a fabrication, the only foundation for which is the wishes of its authors.

A Boer dispatch dated at Modder Spruit on the upper Tugela river previous to the Spion Kop, reports the attempt of the British with a force of 40,000 men to force a way by the Spion Kop route to Ladysmith. The firing on General Botha's position is described as having been so tremendous as to dislodge the very rock.

BULLER'S LOSSES.

An estimate of the losses up to the present date, incurred since Gen. Buller's turning movement began January 11, are: Killed 67, wounded 579, missing 60, making a total of 706. It being estimated that Warren's loss at Spion Kop was near 2,000, the British loss is brought to date with the remarkable record of 11,922 since war was declared.

In view of the apparent check around Ladysmith it is reckoned as probable that the relief of the garrison may be effected by means of the continued action of strong columns operating from the western and northern borders of Cape Colony, now engaged in the campaign to relieve Kimberley. It is clear that Lord Methuen's column is straining in the leash. Generals French and Gatacre are getting into touch. In all likelihood General Kelly-Kerny and General Tucker will soon concentrate divisions at De Aar and Nieuport, respectively.

It is thought in military circles that if General Gatacre is reinforced by a brigade and General French by a division, and a combined movement is made from the Modder river, from Orange river camp and on Sprinfontein, by way of Colesberg and Norval's Pont, the main Boer forces would be distracted from Ladysmith, and the situation would be cleared at once. This would, in fact, be a reversion to the original plan of campaign.

London, Jan. 28.—Mr. Spencer Wilkinson, whose articles on the war situation have attracted much attention here and abroad, wrote the following review of the situation for the Associated Press at midnight, and after the war office had given out a telegram from Lord Roberts, dated at Cape Town Saturday, saying there was no change in the situation:

"The affair of Spion Kop appears very like a reverse at the decisive point of a decisive battle. According to General Buller's telegram, General Warren determined to take the hill, because it commanded the enemy's other positions. Having taken it Tuesday night, he abandoned it, Wednesday night, presumably because he was unable to hold it. The published words of General Buller's telegram have a tone in which a reverse is announced.

"Whether the mishap can be made good it is impossible to say.

A general attacking has to some extent the power of making his own decisive point. General Warren may yet beat the enemy by success at some other point or may take Spion Kop and keep it, but unless in one way or another the battle now going on can be won there is no probability of Ladysmith being relieved.

General Buller's army, unless successful, will be in a critical position, for its retreat would be a difficult operation. The main Boer force is as near to any point on the railway as is General Warren's wing of Buller's army; and the Boers have the advantage of speed. For this reason, as well as because of the importance of his purpose to relieve General White, we may expect General Buller to do his very utmost before giving up the attempt and in this necessity lies the best hope of success.

Kidney Troubles.

The kidneys cleanse the blood and on their activity depends the health of the body. If the liver becomes so torpid that it interferes with the work of the kidneys the body suffers and dropsy results. The most valuable feature in the curative effect of Pilsbury's Kidney Pills is its stimulating influence in the kidneys. It heats and strengthens these organs so that they resume their blood cleansing and urine gathering functions, purifies and regulates the liquor, tones up the stomach and digestion, and by a mild yet thorough cathartic effect, all poisons and bilious impurities in the bowels are driven out. It quickly restores strength and health. Sold by Porch & Crook.

CLARK C. HUDSON - Editor

SEEKING NOTORIETY.

Rev. Sheldon is going to try the experiment of running the Topeka Capital for a week, to show an anxious public how Christ would run a metropolitan paper if he were in the business. The principal result of this escapade is a large amount of advertising which both the paper and Rev. Sheldon will receive.

The first prominence attained by Rev. Sheldon was in the publication of a book entitled, "In His Steps," in which he strove to show to the benighted world what the founder of Christianity would do if he were physically among us. Around the propositions he wove a story of somewhat romantic nature, and vividly brought out several situations in which it would be difficult to imagine Christ as a participant. The preacher-author has taken occasion to liberally criticize the press for the manner in which it conducts its business, and this has brought about an offer of the Topeka Capital to turn over its entire management to him for one week, editorial, business and other departments.

The Reverend will probably know more of newspaper business after he gets through with this venture. Of course it is assumed at the outset that he has some way of knowing just how Christ would go about running a daily newspaper, and is possessed of some special "pull" at the throne of grace. This much is drawn from his undertaking. He goes at the performance of his mission as though he were the accredited newspaper representative of the Creator and censor-in-chief of the universe. His assurance is most exhilarating; but it is certainly open to the criticism of being carried with sacrilege, especially since there is an evident disposition to court notoriety in the project.

There is unquestionably too much sensation and scandal in the average daily newspaper of today. Crime, carnage and debauchery occupy a large amount of space in the columns, and these, carried into the home, are productive only of evil. But the Sheldon experiment is a sensation of itself. Its ambitious sponsor, having had a taste of notoriety from the reputation gained by his book, seems to have created an appetite for more, and has hit upon a novel way of advertising himself. The paper will also have reason to expect an income from employing Rev. Sheldon on his hobby, and the whole affair seems to savor much more of the temporal than of the spiritual.

There is a great responsibility resting upon this impersonator of Christ, in expressing editorial

The Best Food for Infants

Nature planned that infants should have only milk for at least the first year of life. But thin milk, skimmed milk, will not nourish. It's the milk that is rich in cream, or fat, that does the work. This is because fat is positively necessary for the growing body.

Scott's Emulsion

contains the best fat, in the form of Cod-Liver Oil, for all delicate children.

They thrive greatly under its use. Soon they weigh more, eat more, play better and look better. It's just the right addition to their regular food. The hypophosphites of lime and soda in it are necessary to the growth and formation of bone and teeth.

opinions upon the issues of the secular world. He will of course be expected to affirm or deny the assertion of some politicians that Providence has a hand in subjugating the Filipinos, and to inform a world at variance whether the Boer cause is just. And after the parties concerned secure the notoriety which they are evidently anxious to obtain, there is little reason to doubt that the newspapers of the country will go jogging along helter-skelter at the same old pace.

Last accounts indicate that Goebel is occupying the Kentucky Spion Kop.

Spion Kop, in English, means "hot potato," according to the latest translation.

Governor Jones agrees with Candidate Jones that Dan W. Jones ought to be in the United States Senate.

This eccentric weather keeps the thermometer guessing whether to do business upstairs or in the basement.

Consul Macrum was so long getting under way that some people had begun to pronounce his name "May come."

Notwithstanding the extreme religious inclination of the Boer, he appears to understand the shell game tolerably well.

Podewski is making another

It is not stated what varieties of pie were served at the Bryan banquet; but it is reasonable to assume that octopus was on the list.

There is a suspicion in England that few tears would be shed in France if the Boers should win. And France evidently shares the suspicion.

Theatrical note: Hanna's repertoire company will appear at Philadelphia this season, in an elaborate and costly production of Hamlet with the play left out.

There has been no inclination among the Boer housewives to become "new women," which accounts in a measure for the good sense of their sons in battle.

Gen. Warren thought Spion Kop was a pat hand when he picked it up; but he found it was only a bob-tail flub, and that he couldn't draw anything but Boer fire.

The New York Sun predicts bad luck for Bryan, because he wears opals. It is to be hoped that his bad luck will never reach the extent of annexing the Sun's friendship.

The vice president of the Standard Oil Company assures us that trusts are a good thing. They would certainly be a very good thing for everybody, if everybody was the Standard Oil Company.

According to the cartoons, the Boer forces consist entirely of old men with whiskers. The question lies as to whether there are no young Boers, or whether the cartoonist has become econmical and is using his old list sketches.

EUREKA SPRINGS

Eureka Springs has about 6,000 people, besides hundreds of visitors. Without manufactures or commerce beyond such as is common to that many people everywhere, it still exists. And there is a reason—Water.

Water made the place and brought the people, and led the railroad from the station on the Frisco line down the gulch and into the town, and built the pretty churches and the residences that cling to the mountain sides, and graded and leveled the curious streets, and constructed a sewer system, and supplied gas and an electric plant and a remarkable street railway.

There is climate, it is true, one of the most charming of the latitude, where even the usual gales of March are unknown, and which to the northerner is southern, and to the southerner is northern all the year. But climate is widely scattered, and is not alone sufficient to produce the known results. Everybody talks of the waters; the testimony is on every hand and the evidence of efficiency is plentiful and remarkable. Eureka Springs is either a great faith cure or one of the most remarkable water cures of these times. Men tell stories of cures, for themselves and others, which seem to the visitor almost incredible. Educated physicians describe their own cases and the cases of others, and enumerate diseases, known to be ordinarily incurable by medical science, which have here been cured. Crowds cluster at the springs and drink persistently. Everybody owns a cup and a jug. No invalid does anything more than sit and gaze across the mountains, and walk slowly up and down these steep inclines, and drink the waters.

Within the limits of the town there are some forty springs. The names of those most used need hardly be given here, since current report in the town soon makes the invalid acquainted with them and their virtues. Among them are the Basin, the Harding, the Crescent, the Dairy, Little Eureka and the Magnetic. These are all now walled, piped, pavilioned and otherwise improved, and are visited in the course of the year by thousands of persons.

And now comes the singular fact, in answer to all inquiries about ingredients and curative agencies in these waters, that there are none. Chemistry, which is the field of the highest development of modern applied science, gives as the result of analysis almost pure water. In a gallon, 231 cubic inches of the water, there are less than six grains of chemical ingredients. The highest attenuation of homoeopathy scarcely attains to such an extreme dilution.

Here is the analysis. Each gallon of 231 cubic inches contains:

Chloride sodium.....	0.19 grs
Sulphate soda.....	0.09 grs
Bicarbonate soda.....	0.15 grs
Sulphate potash.....	0.13 grs
Bicarbonate lime.....	0.43 grs
Bicarbonate magnesia.....	0.47 grs
Iron and alumina.....	0.08 grs
Silica.....	0.31 grs
Total.....	0.58 grs

Parts in a million—Free ammonia..... 0.14 grs Albuminoid Ammonia..... 0.07 grs

The gas contained is 28.52 cubic inches in each gallon of water. It is worthy of note that the gaseous contents of the water of Eureka Springs is remarkable from the fact that there is a large proportion of nitrogen. The large proportion of nitrogen is proof of a proportionately large amount of oxygen.

If a mysterious combination is the secret it has defied investigation. No physician and no patient knows precisely why these waters cure. When the facts are all known the question without lasting unpleasant results. It acts as a laxative temporarily, after considerable quantities have been taken for a considerable time.

We all naturally want to know the reason why, and we all naturally doubt until it is explained. It is true that the cures at Eureka Springs are many of them incredible at a distance yet the facts remain undisputed near at hand, and that is a very real test.

It is distinctly stated by those present and most competent to judge that pulmonary consumption is the only malady which, so far as known, is not benefitted, and in many instances cured, at Eureka Springs. Whether this statement be in all cases absolutely true or not, there is a formidable list of chronic complaints whose victims usually pass slow years in torment, that are known to have been cured. These are some of them:

SCROFULA—A noted physician writes: "The material ingredients of the water, as ascertained by chemical analysis, are insufficient to account for the wonderful curative powers exerted by them. How, then, are we to account for the undoubted cures of the following diseases, as witnessed by myself and thousands of others? Asthma, chronic diarrhoea, ulceration

Boils and Pimples Give Warning.

AN UNFAILING SIGN THAT NATURE IS APPEALING FOR HELP.

When Nature is overtaken, she has her own way of giving notice that assistance is needed. She does not ask for help until it is impossible to get along without it. Boils and pimples are an indication that the system is accumulating impurities which—a warning that can not safely be ignored.

To neglect to purify the blood at this time means more than the annoyance of painful boils and unsightly pimples. If these impurities are allowed to remain, the system succumbs to any ordinary illness, and is unable to withstand the many ailments which are so prevalent during spring and summer.

Mrs. L. Gentile, 2004 Second Avenue, Seattle, Wash., says: "I was afflicted for a long time with pimples, which were very annoying, as they disfigured my face fearfully. After using many other remedies in vain, S. S. S. promptly and thoroughly cleansed my blood, and now I rejoice in a good complexion, which I never had before."

is the best blood remedy, because it is purely vegetable and is the only one that is absolutely free from potash and mercury. It promptly purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system, builds up the general health and strength. It cures Scrofula, Eczema, Cancer, Rheumatism, Tetters, Boils, Sores, etc., by going direct to the cause of the trouble and forcing out all impure blood. Books free to any address by the Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

still remains unanswered unless it be answered thus:

First—Pure water is a solvent, the greatest nature furnishes for her own processes.

Second—The water at Eureka Springs is cool, pleasant, and may be and is taken in unlimited quantities of the bowels, piles, catarrh, ozena, dropsy, skin disease arising from scrofulous taint, granulated ophthalmia, female diseases of every kind, rheumatism, gout, kidney, liver, bladder, dyspepsia in all its protean forms. I saw no one who was entirely cured of cancer, but heard of several. If I had a cancer I would go to Eureka and stay there until the cancer disappeared or sent me to the land of spirits. Old sores on the legs are cured in a short time. White swelling, fistula, and all diseases arising from a scrofulous taint are cured. I saw a number of persons with different forms of syphilis who had come to Eureka direct from Hot Springs. They informed me that they improved much more rapidly from the use of the Eureka water than they did at Hot Springs."

Third—There is almost no pure

TWO FIRES.

Excellent Work of the Hose Companies Prevented Serious Results.

Yesterday about noon an alarm of fire was turned in from the Dr. Buell residence, now owned by W. E. Beatty, at the corner of Armstrong and Douglass streets. When hose companies Nos. 1 and 3 arrived the blaze was eating its way over the roof, and a number of people were busy rescuing personal effects from the burning house. The work of the fire department was very effective, and although the weather was extremely cold the boys went heroically at subjugating the flames. That they were successful before the building was ruined is ample attest of their efficiency. As it stands, the loss on the building, Mr. Beatty estimates, will reach $800 and is covered by insurance. The fire caught from a defective flue, and the entire garret was ablaze before it was discovered.

The building was occupied by Col Boles and his son, Fred Boles, with their families. Their loss to furniture and personal effects, from fire, water and breakage, was about $160; no insurance.

A burning flue was the cause of quite a blaze at Mr. Fuller's residence on Spring street this morning. Fire caught on the roof at the lower side, and was not observed by the occupants until parties from Hillside avenue, below, informed them. No alarm was turned in but hose company No. 2, which is close, went at once to the rescue. In a short time the flames were extinguished, although they had badly damaged all of one side of the roof, and some personal property was ruined. The loss was not learned.

In both instances the prompt, effective work of the hose companies saved much more serious conflagrations, and in this morning's fire the company received excellent assistance from a number of parties who are working on the Crescent.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

[By a Member.]

The last meeting of the Fortnightly Club was the most interesting and most important one that has been held this year. The two subjects for the evening, Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and The Newer America were presented in a manner that stamps the work of the club as of a very high order.

The success of the meeting, in a great measure, is due, no doubt, to the beautiful surroundings and the courteous reception given the club in the new and elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. Rail. The members and their friends raised the old colonial knocker and passed under that magic word above the door, all unconscious of the meaning which was to be fully realized ere they went their several ways. "Avarana"—a place of rest among the mountains where Alexander the Great was kindly treated—an appropriate name for so lovely a home, presided over by those who know so well how to make the name and its significance one and the same. The Fortnightly Club, without knowing the significance of the name of the place where they were so pleasantly entertained, carried away in their hearts the many impressions received while under the influence of the surroundings that showed a happy combination of colonial and modern styles of the house beautiful.

This evening marked another milestone in the life of the Fortnightly and the annual election of officers was held. Mrs. Chas. E. Davis was re-elected president for the seventh time and in a speech which is so characteristic of her, she accepted the duties of the office. The following is a synopsis of the speech of acceptance:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Fortnightly Club:

"The proceedings this evening would indicate that you think I possess some lurking ambition.

"The good book says, 'He who would be great among you let him be your servant.' As you repeat this upon my filling the latter part of this clause, I will 'plead guilty' to define it as having a desire to become great in helping to advance the highest interests of this Fortnightly Club.

"Our club being composed of strongly individualized say incisive characters, it has been something to do in line so as to insure to keep all results, and here, I wish, the best ally, to express my gratitude to the executive committee for the very wise way in which the arranged conditions, whereby these results could be reached. This society, so far as I know, has existed with a single 'side issue.' It is, as you know, composed of the doctors, lawyers and business persons of this town—representatives of human life from every angle, who, viewed from common ground, and meet on not only in harmony, but with much enthusiasm, and with selected subjects. In other words we present the various of kindred spirits, having ally gravitated together—lovers and investigators of similar and knowledge, the result might be expected; like result is as it is its own reward.

"There has not been in the history of our club, been the weather or have been the obstacles to come, that we have to present a good work and I feel that I can speak as one for the whole club when I say that never for a single evening have we disbanded without a feeling of increased self-respect and personal up-lift. It is impossible to not feel honored at the quality of head and heart that has placed me in the chair from year to year; nor am I unmindful of the personal consideration shown me by each member during the past six years in which we have worked together.

"No one, I think, can be more keenly conscious of personal limitations than myself; hence I will make no promises, but trust I may not disappoint you in our coming year's work."

The old officers, Mrs. M. R. Regan, vice-president; Dr. M. R. Regan, treasurer; and the executive committee, consisting of Mr. C. S. Barnett, Mr. Geo. C. Christian and Dr. Chas. E. Davis, were all re-elected with but little interest. Mr. M. J. Russell was the only newly elected officer. He is to serve as secretary for the coming year. The choice is a good one.

After many kind words to the host and hostess for opening their home to the club, the meeting was adjourned to February 2, for the annual banquet.

FROM R. H. JAMES.

He is Much Encouraged With the Commercial Club Work.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 26, 1900.
Editor Times-Echo:

DEAR SIR:—Some clippings from your paper just received this date shows the Commercial Club is working with a will. This united action upon their part cannot be praised too highly and should receive the support of all citizens. It is quite satisfactory to me, as your representative on the road, to be able to mention them and refer those who will visit our place to them as a body of progressive business men. Am encouraged to think people of this city will visit Eureka in the near future.

The court docket for February term as I find it in print, has W. E. Woodruff vs R. H. James; common law. Think this must be a mistake as I cannot call to mind any differences between us in past or present.

Just a Cough

Not worth paying attention to, you say. Perhaps you have had it for weeks. It's annoying because you have a constant desire to cough. It annoys you also because you remember that weak lungs is a family failing. At first it is a slight cough. At last it is a hemorrhage. At first it is easy to cure. At last, extremely difficult.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

quickly conquers your little hacking cough.

There is no doubt about the cure now. Doubt comes from neglect.

For over half a century Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been curing colds and coughs and preventing consumption. It cures Consumption also if taken in time.

Keep one of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plasters over your lungs if you cough.

docket recorded "R. H. James" where it should have had R. H. Jones. We have ordered the court to make the correction, and to apologize to this paper for leading it into the first error it has ever committed.]

Bright's disease is more dreaded by physicians than any of the serious disorders with which they have to deal, because of its insidious and malignant character. If prompt action were taken when headaches, urinary disorders, digestive troubles first appear much suffering and sorrow would be averted. Prickly Ash Bitters will quickly stop the spread of the disease, quiet the inflammation, heal the kidneys and bladder, strengthen and regulate the liver, and drive poisons and impurities out of the system by cleaning the bowels. Sold by Porch & Crook.
