No event in recent years has attracted more widespread attention in newspaper and social circles in the west and southwest that almost amounts to recklessthan that which marked the formal opening of the season of Eureka Springs at the Crescent hotel Saturday evening. In preparing for this event the Frisco line exerted every possible effort to make it a success, and with the assistance of the hotel management accomplished this result in a most satisfactory manner. The occasion was conceded to be the most brilliant and successful of any in the fourteen years' history of the Crescent. In the dining room, which had been fitted for the dancing, two stringed orchestras discoursed lovely music, while tempting refreshments were served in two comprogram of round dances had been arranged, and at nine o'clock the floor was filled with devotees of the graceful art-the 'poetry of motion." Dancing continued until twelve.

MINISTERS ARROUSED

Will Make a Fight Against Another Saloon on Spring Street.

A petition was circulated today among the ministers of the city against opening a saloon in the Rice building, and is creating quite a sensation. The petition reads:

"We, the undersigned members of the Ministers' Alliance, Springs at once, and promises of Eureka Springs, do hereby respectfully enter our protest, in the name of decency and for the daughters and children of our city, against the opening of the new saloon building in the Rice building on Spring Street. "Said saloon will not only be a pitfall to our young men, but it will prove odious to every re fined citizen and visitor, and to every lady in passing.

"If such places of iniquity are allowed in our city at all, common decency suggests that they wagon to you daughters, to say nothing of others will not be compelled to come under their influence. Houses of ill-fame are forced to seek secluded quarters, then why allow the saloon, which is the breeder of all the vices, to set itself up where every lady has to pass in order to visit the springs, the real estate offices, the stores, the post office, etc? It cannot but occur to every respectable citizen that the saloon in question, located where it is, is a reflection on our fair city, and can but prove offensive to A tally-ho and carriage ride hundreds who enter our gates in

ITS PROFITABLE SIDE.

The excursion of newspaper lic. Its importance cannot be overestimated.

A great many of the best metropolitan papers in the West were represented here by able men, whose reports sent out during the excursion will find their way into no less than a million homes. The enormity of the advertising which Eureka Springs will receive from this can hardly be appreciated, and if paid for at cash rates would amount in the aggregate to many thousands of dollars. In addition to this, it will acquaint the newspaper offices of the metropolitan press with our city and its advantages as a health resort, from a knowledge derived by personal contact. All these things operate to the advantage of Eureka Springs, and assist in the general advertising which this resort is now receiving.

A more representative body of men than our late visitors could not be secured. They are the essence of literary, professional and commercial spirit, imbued with ideas of progress and all that which goes to make success. Such men do not have to be told where enterprise is or in what it consists. They can recognize merit without sending for an analysis. In this visit to our city they have had an opporlunty to see that Eureka Sping is just what it professes to be, and hour friendship is sometry of which this city шах veli be р оли.

Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. The little one was unequal to the struggle, and its life was yielded up to the fearful poison. For six long years I suffered untold misery. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and no language can express my feelings of wee during those long years. I had the best medical treatment. Several physicians successively treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to try Swift's Specific. We got two bottles, and I felt hope again revive in my breast—hope for health and happiness again. But Eureka Springs, Ark., is one that has merited the name richly. And the fact that it has been in the health resort business for a straight 20 years, and is gaining in popubetter known to-day than at any time dur ing its history. For several months during the summer season it was almost impossi

Eureka Springs is situated on top of the Ozark Mountains, at an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet above sea level. Its climate is all that one could ask, the winters being short

There is always a difference of from 8 to 12

degrees in temperature between Eureka

Springs and other places, with the difference in Eureka Springs' favor. The nights are always cool and pleasant in mid-sum-mer, a covering always being a necessity

The mineral region begins at the ver gates of Eureka Springs. Recent investiga tions by that eminent mineral authority Col. M. L. DeMalher, show that Carrol pounty is underlaid in many portions with rich zinc deposits. In his able report, which by his permission we are allowed to publish, he says:

"The condition of an eroded surface to the country has been availed of to great advantage in the collection of data for this report. The surface of the country in all its parts is broken. An outcropping mineral formation is present in all territory visited in the course of a two hundred mile journey over the county. Ore has been discovered in all cases where sufficient experience or instruction led the way of loca prospectors. Zinc ore, with here and ther a lead bearing rock to cap the system, a present. And altogether no part of the Ar kinsas zinc belt shows a thicker outcrop of mineral rock, or which has repaid wit more interest and satisfaction the time given to an exploration of the county.

"It has railroad outlet to begin with a Eureka Springs. It has to feel the first im pulse imparted to Northern Arkansas by the Eureka Springs railway extension to Harrison. The mineral formation speak or itself to prospectors familiar with the Arkansas formation. Of the geological side of the question practically rendered there is but one comprehension of it open, if it is to be studied to advantage, which is as follows:

"The county, as so much mineral territory, is not an "outline," so-called, of the Arkansas zinc field. It is a western contin uation of the system to which belongs th zine formation of Boone, Marion, Search and Newton counties, as contra-distinguish ed from the zinc formation of Baxter, Ful ton, Randolph, Izard and Sharp counties For the layman is to be reminded, in thi connection, that while in the first name group of counties the ore-bearing rock he longs to the silurian age, in the last name group the mineral formation belongs t the sub-carboniferous or Joplin zinc age.

"Or, to state it in another way: It his been latterly discovered that the differen formations to which the mineral of th Missouri-Kansas zinc field belongs account in some degree for the confusion of th Joplin miner when for the first time cor fronting the mineral formation of the system to which it is discovered county belongs. The difference is an important one to consider."

Following this he cites a list of no less than fifty properties in Carroll county, which, during his visit he personally examined, and which are shown by him to possess valuable deposits of mineral. This would soon become stale from the constan changes and additions which are being made

DESTINED IMPORTANCE

It is all of these things which go to prove that Eureka Springs is but entering upon its era of importance. Favored by nature with advantages which are possessed by n other city in the country, it becomes a once the portal to health and the gatewa to fortune. As such it stands unequaled

For years I suffered terrible pains every month and my doctor told me I could not be cured except by an operation. Last month I did not have a pain, and did all my work, which I had not done in seven years.

A SOCIAL EVENT.

Mrs. Charles E. Davis.

One of the most pleasant society events we have been called upon to record was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Davis in their beautiful home, on the evening of March 3rd. It was their silver wedding, but the good sense greatest copper mine in the and excellent taste of Dr. and Mrs. Davis excluded everything that savored of show for show's sake; no ceremony was pronounced and no presents expected or displayed. It was a real observance of their wedding annivernearest railroad point. I am sary, with a marked absence of ostentation. The home of the Dr and his beloved wife is an excellent example of the distinction between a house and a home. Their we are resting easily on that part of it are evidences of good taste and of culture. The walls were tastefully decorated and a few beautiful plants were interspersed, adding their peculiar charm to the occasion, Music accompanied the evening's entertainment, and in the dining room three of Mrs, Davis' friends, Mrs. Wadsworth, Mrs. Melone and Mrs. Sayles, spread before the hundred or more invited guests the most delicate of dishes which made the harmony of the occasion most complete.

One should have a woman's taste to tell how beautifully attired was the womanly woman who stood beside the Doctor in the bay window and gave her hand to numerous friends who came to wish her many happy returns of their wedding anniversary. It is not difficult to describe the costume of a man on such occasion. The Doctor looked just the same as he did twenty-five years ago, only a little older grown from arduous lobor in his profession.

Miss Carrie Hawley, in the absence of the accomplished and devoted daughter, Miss Crystal, took the part of receiving the guests and it is needless to say that it was gracefully done.

In passing, we cannot refrain from mentioning that Dr. Davis and his wife have been prominent factors in the development of not only the interests of society but the business interests of this little city during the years that they have made their home here. Dr. Davis is distinctly a promoter, and his influence for he good of the city is indelibly interested him in our city, he brought capital to build our bridges and will ultimately be ingreat sanitarium here. Mrs. Davis has always been a leader in every movement for the betterment of society where she lived. It is fitting that our people should have an opportunity of expressing their appreciation of these good people as they did on Saturday evening, and all unite in wishing that they may continue to live among us and celebrate their golden wedding under even brighter skies if such
