May 1, 1908, to Be a Great Day

"There is a mistaken impression," said George Tilles yesterday, that the properties that were bought by Fort Smith men in Eureka Springs had been placed in the hands of a receiver, owing to the Duncan failure. That is a mistake. The public utilities that were bought have always been profitable, and were in part assets of the defunct Citizens Bank and Mr. Duncan.

"Owing to the sale of the properties Mr. Duncan will realize largely on his assets and will be enabled shortly to pay dollar for dollar his entire indebtedness.

"The best asset that Eureka Springs has is Mr. Duncan, and his financial difficulties were the result of his efforts to boost the city. He will come out with flying colors, however, and will re-occupy his old place as one of the town's leaders."

The improvements that will be made on property acquired by the Fort Smith syndicate, Mr. Tilles said, will be started almost immediately. It is the plan to have everything in readiness for an opening by May 1, 1908.

Architect Blaisdell, who has designed amusement parks all over the Southwest, and who has originated a style in summer theatres, will go to Eureka Springs shortly to select a site for the casino and theatre which will be built on the park.

The extensions contemplated on the street car line will be begun as soon as the necessary preliminary work has been done.

Mr. Tilles is confident that Eureka Springs is destined to be one of the greatest health resorts in America, and believes that the city will soon be entertaining hundreds of thousands of health-seekers annually.

The Duncan failure caused a momentary collapse of Eureka Springs' prosperity, but the business men have recovered from the set-back and are now entering upon new enterprises with enthusiasm and with optimism for the city's future.—Southwest American.

Golf Club Meeting

The Golf Club met at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. VanAllen.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. A. Reed, president pro tem, who explained that the object of the meeting was to determine what disposal to make of the money belonging to the club. The sum of $434, for the past year was loaned to Mrs. Reed at ten per cent interest.

The minutes of three preceding meetings were read and approved.

Motion was made to extend the time of the loan; after remarks, discussion, and due explanation, the motion was again made, seconded, and carried unanimously.

Election of officers followed: Mrs. Reed was nominated for president.

Mrs. Wadsworth-Baker was called to the chair, and made president pro tem.

Mrs. C. A. Reed was unanimously elected president; Mrs. R. E. Blair, vice president; Mrs. Linbarger, treasurer; Mrs. Van Allen, secretary.

After some discussion of Golf clubs, circulating libraries, and ways and means of securing them both for Eureka Springs, the meeting adjourned, to meet again at the same place Wednesday, October 16th. A full attendance is desired at this time.

Mrs. Emma F. VanAllen, Sec.

P. E. O.'s

After a vacation of three months the P. E. O.'s held their first meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Petty in New Town. All had looked forward with pleasure and anticipation to this reunion, but several were absent on account of sickness and absences from town.

After a short session the sisters were turned over to Mrs. Glattley and Mrs. Westfall to be entertained while Mrs. Petty announced her presence was needed in the kitchen. Then visions of fried chickens and cream gravy arose in our minds. Mrs. Glattley proposed showing us through the lumber mills and explaining the different kinds of lumber and sawing of same, which was very instructive. On our return to the house our hostess invited us into the spacious and beautiful dining room where covers were laid for twenty and the table fairly groaning with delicious viands, served in beautiful Japanese china. Amid this and the pleasant hum of conversation, a gentle knock was heard and a B. L. L. was heard asking for admittance to the dining room, which was readily granted in spite of "petticoats enter only."

Miss Mittie Bolton's sister, Mrs. Newland, was our honored guest for the social hour, and not until the shades of evening were falling could we tear ourselves away from our charming hostess, with appreciation for the afternoon's pleasure.

Another Wedding
This afternoon at 4 o'clock, the marriage of Mr. W. S. Gunter and Mrs. Martha E. Hensley was solemnized in the parlors of the New St. Louis house, Rev. Jeff Sherman officiating.

A few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony and bade the happy pair god-speed as they left the hotel for the depot, where they took the west-bound train for a wedding trip of some length, the itinerary of which includes Knoxville, Tenn.; Quitman, Ga. and different points in Texas and Oklahoma. Miss Raphulan, daughter of the groom, is to accompany them on this trip, and all will return to Eureka Springs in about six weeks, to make this their home.

Mr. Gunter has been a resident of this city for several years, and has held several positions of trust—on the police force, with the Crescent hotel and Missouri and North Arkansas railroad and with individual concerns—all of which positions he has acceptably filled. He is a man of integrity and honor, and a genial disposition, making many friends.

The lady he has chosen lived in Eureka Springs for a time, but moved from here to Oklahoma, her present home being Union, in the new state. She, too, is popular with a large circle of friends.

A Hotel of Comfort

THEODORE L. HAWLEY, Manager

Quorum Court at Berryville

Esq. McLaughlin attended Quorum Court at Berryville the first two days of the week.

Twenty-six of the thirty justices of the peace in the county were in attendance, and the session was a lively one, although not much business outside of the routine work was transacted.

A few followed their usual tactics and made the Western district court house the bone of contention, charging the building of this court house with the depreciation in value of county scrip. It was easily shown, however, that only $3,000 had been paid in this work, while there had been appropriations in the eastern district of $5,000 for a bridge over Osage, and large amounts for the remodeling and improving of the old court house at Berryville. Besides, the court expenses for the eastern district had been unusually large, on account of the murder cases tried. These unusual expenditures had tended to cheapen county scrip—but only a comparatively small amount of these expenses had been caused by the western district court house, now in course of construction.

Judge McLaughlin was one of the three committeemen on the levying of taxes, and he advocated a five-mill tax as the best means of covering the indebtedness, but the majority of the committee favored a lower rate, and recommended the levying of a four-mill tax. But this recommendation was voted down, and the old three mill assessment stands.

A committee was sent out on Monday afternoon to look after the county poor farm. They reported the affairs of this charitable institution to be in a deplorable condition, and that the inmates and farm sadly needed attention. Their report was such that it was deemed advisable for the court to visit the farm in a body, which was done on Tuesday morning. It was some relief to find that things were not so bad as expected, but bad enough to need a change, and Judge Fancher was authorized to have some necessary improvements made. A resolution was passed recommending the sale of the old farm and the buying of five acres of land near town, on which shall be built a suitable home for the county's helpless poor.

The usual appropriations were made.

Arkansas Sheriff Killed on Train

Holdenville, Okla., Oct. 8.—Eugene Mooney, sheriff of Baxter county, Ark., whose home is in Mountain Home, was almost instantly killed here last night by the accidental discharge of his own gun. In company with his cousin, J. H. Conley, deputy sheriff, he was bringing a prisoner, Will Estes, from Albuquerque, N. M., on a charge of burglary.

When the Rock Island train on which the sheriff and the prisoner were traveling, pulled into Holdenville, Mooney, who was sitting in the same seat with the prisoner, leaned over to look out of the window. In doing so his revolver fell on the floor and was discharged, and the ball entered the base of his heart.

Mooney's gun was picked from the floor and was found to have a load in each chamber, except the one on which the hammer rested. All circumstances point to an accident.

Departure of Popular People

Rev. and Mrs. Nathaniel Chesnut leave on the afternoon train for their new field of labor—Lyons, Kan. Mr. Chesnut relates a dream in connection with his acceptance of his present work, to this effect: While pondering the call extended to that field, the minister had a dream of great cages lions, and of how these king beasts later came out of their iron cages while he stood in the midst of them unharmed. Perchance this dream may be a prophecy of Mr. Chesnut's success in subduing the lions of sin in the city of Lyons.

Rev. Chesnut is one of the most gifted men who has filled a local pulpit as pastor, and his departure is regretted, not only by Presbyterians, but by the membership of other churches, and by those without any church affiliation. During his four years pastorate, Mr. Chesnut has seen pastors for each of the other churches change three or more times, so that he was the senior minister in point of residence here, and this is another tie that binds the people of Eureka Springs to him, for the longer one knows a good man, the more he is beloved.

Both he and his wife have the love and confidence of our people, and good wishes will follow them to Kansas.

"Saw the Sights"

Capt. and Mrs. Hawley returned this morning from Kanass City, where they went to select holiday goods.

They worked hard two days and part of the nights, and gave half of yesterday over to pleasure. They took a trip on the touring sight-seeing automobile, and were shown all the prettiest spots in the two cities of 438,000 population.

Kansas City has already thirty-nine miles of boulevard, lined on either side with triple rows of beautiful shade trees, usually hard and soft maple alternating and making a lovely effect. Ten more miles of boulevard are being added. There are 241 miles of paved streets, mostly asphalt.

The city now has 2,354 acres of park, built at a cost of eighteen million dollars, and 221 acres are to be added to this large number. The man who plans these parks is also employed by other leading cities, drawing a combined salary of $58,000.

In the month of August, the banks of Kansas City had on deposit 32 million dollars.

The tunnel from Union station is 320 feet in length, and was built at an expense of a quarter million dollars.

The new viaduct is a mile and a quarter long.

Forty-one lines of railroad run into the city.

In their tour yesterday, Capt. and Mrs. Hawley went over part of the old Sante Fe trail. They saw one high school of manual training, in which 200 children are students.

They saw George Taylor, Larkin Jordan and other old Eureka boys. While walking down one of the business streets, Mrs. Hawley was accosted by a little boy, who said he had been in Eureka Springs with his mamma, and knew "Mrs. Hawley."

The Hawleys have bought a beautiful line of goods, about which our readers will hear more later.

old song as requested. When Hockaday sobered up he was a different man. He had been converted.

He has just returned from several places in Arkansas where he held evangelistic meetings converting many of his old time friends who were wont to go on sprees with him. He even visited the town where he was tried for the crime of which he was innocent and converted many who were there when the case was in the courts.

Hockaday has had printed and distributed over the country a pamphlet entitled "Hell Defeated," giving the story of his life. He holds back nothing and freely converses with people about his past life and of the way he came to be converted.

Many living in Springfield remembered Will Hockaday and his waywardness.—Springfield Republican.

Finding Diamonds

Upon a tract of about 600 acres near Murfreesboro, in Pike County, Southwestern Arkansas, some 100 miles from the city of Little Rock, more than 120 diamonds have been found within the past year. In size, they vary from 1-64 carat to 6½ carats, in color, from dark brown to the high-prized blue-white.

Fifteen people discovered all these jewels, mostly by kneeling on the ground and poking them up with sticks from within one or two inches of the surface. Even in its rough state, the diamond's glitter is unmistakable. After one successful experience, the lucky searcher does not fail to recognize it again.

One diamond was excavated from a depth of fifteen feet. Indeed the same rock which furnishes the gems on the surface has been proved, by three sets of drillholes, to remain constant to a depth of 200 feet. And this blue-green rock, decomposed "peridotite," resembles geologically the "blue ground" if the Kimberly mines in South Africa from which fortunes have been taken in diamonds within thirty years.—From "Has Arkansas a Diamond Field?" by Robert S. Lanier, in the American Review of Reviews for September.

Will L. Hockaday, for twenty years known throughout Southwest Missouri as the "blind drummer," but now engaged in evangelistic work in the Methodist church, was in Springfield yesterday conferring with local ministers relative to holding a series of revival meetings in one of the churches here. It has been seven years since Hockaday visited Springfield and many of the old time traveling men who noticed his name on the Metropolitan hotel register yesterday hunted him up and renewed acquaintance.

Four years ago Hockaday was a drunkard and gambler, morphine fiend and opium smoker. It is related of him that he could sell more goods when he had a quart of whisky in him than when he was sober. He was in Springfield frequently and was known as a "dead game sport." A Bible his mother had given him when he first went on the road for a St. Louis firm, after a year was supplanted by a bottle of whisky and a deck of cards.

In 1895 at Mammoth Spring, Ark., Hockaday was indicted for a capital offense. He was found innocent of the charge. The newspapers throughout the country heralded the alleged fiendish crime far and wide, and his family was ruined socially and financially. After he was indicted a mob formed to lynch Hockaday, but friends spirited him away in a wagon, thwarting their plans. Four years ago Hockaday was running one of the biggest gambling houses in Cincinnati. He came out on the street one night and heard a fallen girl standing in the snow of the street, giving her testimony. Hockaday approached her, hardly knowing what he was doing and asked her to sing. "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight," offering her a dollar. The girl scorned the money, but sang the

It is a source of supreme surprise to the people of this city that churches, social and benevolent workers and other organizations looking for a location for the establishment of a school or home in Arkansas or even the Southwest country, will pass Eureka Springs by and select sites around which it in reality takes "two sets of frogs to live through one season." One of the oldest, best and most popular secret orders a few years back refused to place its orphans' home here simply because our bonus was a few dollars less than that of another town. The matron of the home was forced to spend two months here each year in order to get the malaria out of her system so that she could live at the home the other ten months. This was kept up a few years, and finally the lady had to resign her position on account of the unhealthfulness of the locality of this home. This order saw its mistake when it was too late, yet others have failed to learn a lesson from it, but are going on the same way, locating schools and homes in places that have nothing to offer except a bonus. Healthful conditions are a priceless boon to such institutions.

HIS DEAR OLD MOTHER.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty-three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny, children, too, are greatly strengthened by them. Principle of Life Begins in the Home

"Politics, national and commercial life are only a part of our existence in this world; the other is the fundamental part, the home life, and this home life, mayor, is the principal part."

These words were spoken to Mayor Malone Friday afternoon in the carriage by President Roosevelt while the host and guest were viewing the parade.

"As the president witnessed the beautiful spectacle, the 3,000 little school children singing and waving their flags," said the mayor, yesterday, "I turned to him and remarked, 'President, that certainly does not look like race suicide.' Mr. Roosevelt seemed visibly affected and smiling loudly cheered the little tots.

"President Roosevelt was in an unusually happy mood and he seemed to fully imbibe the great national spirit that pervaded the immense throng lining the streets to see him and the magnificent pageant. And when the parade disbanded and we were on our way to the Auditorium he talked freely and enthusiastically of the meeting. He had no time to talk of the river parade, it was all Memphis, and the grand reception accorded himself and the visitors and delegates."

Mayor Malone said that the president talked of the many facts that had arisen since he became the chief magistrate of the nation at his expense and seemed very much amused when he was told that the children had their "Teddy Bear Dolls" in Canada just as they have them in the states. The mayor told the president that he had noticed this particular feature when on a trip to Canada this summer. The president said the fact that the nation greeted him as "Teddy" made him proud, and what the magazines and papers published about "nature fakirs" only served to amuse him.—Commercial Appeal.

HOW TO AVOID APPENDICITIS.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels, and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. H. T. Pendergrass.

Unless a business enterprise is "beyond hope," a quick resort to the "ad-treatment" will put it through. Many "marvelous cures" are accredited to newspaper advertising.

The world is full of men who should be put out of the way to give better men a greater chance.

HARD TIMES IN KANSAS.

The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time the encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by H. T. Pendergrass' drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

How we all love to indulge in useless talk!

Mr. L. C. Carlin returned this morning after an absence of seven weeks, during which time he has visited at his home in Edinburg, Ill., and spent two weeks looking after interests in Kanass City. He is glad to get back to Eureka Springs, and expects his wife here next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Manlove, of Galena, have been frequent visitors to Eureka Springs in the past, and are well known here. Friends will be shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Manlove on Sunday last at their home in Galena. She was taken with a severe pain in the spine, which resulted in her death four hours later.

Will Matney has sold his tailoring and clothes-cleaning establishment to George Dortch, and leaves this afternoon for Dallas, Tex., where he will engage in a similar business with an uncle. This is not the first time that Will has cast his lot elsewhere, but he usually returns after a very short time, for no place looks so good to him as Eureka Springs, and we shall expect him back here before spring.

Mrs. M. E. Decker, the Clairvoyant and Palmist has returned after a visit of several weeks at Monett and Aurora, and has located at the old Crescent Cafe, nearly opposite McLaughlin's grocery store. She says that she expects to remain here indefinitely, and will be pleased to meet all interested in her specialties. Mrs. Decker has spent several seasons in Eureka Springs, and is well known to many of our citizens.

Mrs. Theodore Black, whose husband is one of the superintendents of construction work on the Missouri and North Arkansas road's extensions, has just returned from an eight-weeks' visit with her husband. Mrs. Black is enthusiastic over the beautiful natural scenery of the country through which the road is being built, and only regretted that she had no kodak along, so that she might have souvenirs of the trip to share with her friends.

Manager and Mrs. J. A. Gillies, of the Crescent Hotel, who chaperoned eighteen of their guests out to Blue Spring yesterday, report a splendid time. The day was perfect for the trip. They left at 8 o'clock in the morning, and did not arrive home till after 6 in the evening, extending their journey around by Beaver on the way home. Manager Gillies says there may be a prettier jaunt in existence than the one they took, but he has never seen it.

Russell D. Klock, of Chicago, an old friend of Hon. F. A. Pickard, is now visiting in Eureka Springs. The former was a pupil of our townswoman in Chautauqua county, N. Y., in 1866, and the gentlemen had not met since those good old days, and of course would never have recognized each other, but upon learning of Mr. Pickard's residence here, Mr. Klock called upon his old tutor and made himself known. Both are now gray-haired men, but the lapse of years had not obliterated the pleasant memories of the past, and each is enjoying a renewal of the old ties.

The other day in Springfield, Mo., an officer arrested a man for cruelty to animals, the animal in question being a horse. From all accounts this horse was like that of the old negro's which he called Napoleon, because the bony part was so prominent. It was said to be literally "skin and bones," but the owner, who was a stranger, said, when arrested, that he regretted the condition of his horse more than anyone else possibly could, for it was his only hope of reaching Eureka Springs; that he was in the last stages of consumption and was praying that his horse would hold out to get him there. After hearing this story, the man's physical appearance bearing witness to the truth of it, the policeman released him and sent him on his way here. We have sometimes been prone to think it not just right for the sick and indigent to be unloaded upon Eureka Springs, but who would deny such the blessings to be found here? While we all may chafe at the presence of these objects of charity, not one of our citizens would "cast the first stone" or refuse them admittance to the City of Healing Waters.

No home is so pleasant, regardless of the comforts that money will buy as when the entire family is in perfect health. A bottle of Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup costs 50 cents. It will cure every member of the family of constipation, sick headache or stomach trouble. H. T. Pendergrass.

If there is real efficiency in the traditional "power of the press," results should follow the resolution of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association calling for an investigation of the paper trust and asking for the immediate removal of the tariff on print paper and wood pulp. Newspapers are not agreed on the subject of the tariff, but they do know that newspaper stock has increased in cost through trust control as well as through the growing scarcity of raw material. They also know that the removal of the tariff would have a tendency to lower prices, and at the same time might lessen, to a large extent, the destruction of American forests by the pulp industries—forests that should be saved for their permanent value to the watersheds in which they lie.—Kansas City Times.

Case to Court

Little Rock, Oct. 8.—The Futrell-Lucas controversy will be taken into court.

Prof. Futrell asked for two detectives to guard the Blind School this morning and they were sent there.

Members of the Charity Board last night stayed at the Blind School, but Futrell would provide no rooms for the members opposing his re-election. They were provided for by the teachers, who gave up their rooms and slept with the pupils.

Why This Life-Killing Pace

We are living at a life-killing pace. It matters not whether it is the man of business or the society dame. The pace is sapping the manhood and womanhood of the United States.

Athletes are going at a gait that keeps Death ever on the wing. Actors and actresses are breaking down under the strain of their profession.

Girls and boys are becoming old men and women before they have got beyond childhood's days.

We eat at a pace that invites death instead of adding to our vitality.

We are trying to do everything in such a mad rush that thousands of lives are being sacrificed every day ruthlessly, yes, criminally.

Trains are compelled to run at a frightful rate of speed to satisfy the passengers.

Steamboats are being built to cut off twenty-four or forty-eight hours in crossing the big pond.

Automobiles are now constructed to carry their passengers faster than any express train can run.

And still the cry goes up for "more speed," and the inventors are cutting down their span of life in their efforts to satisfy the insatiable cry for faster traveling.

Do you wonder that there are so many wrecks on the steam and electric railways of this country? The explanation is simple.

So fierce has become the demand for shortening time between points that the railroad companies are compelled to run their trains at dangerous speed over tracks that were built for slower trains. The commercial world demands the quicker transmission of the mails and the "flyer" is scheduled to make the run in almost impossible time.

There was a time when a man started on a trip across the ocean he did not care for speed. He was seeking rest and he took to the water route because he could travel slowly and enjoy the journey. Now he hunts for the ship that will land him on the other side of the ocean in the shortest possible time.

And this "mad race" is killing thousands of people and wrecking many more, to say nothing about the millions of dollars worth of property that is destroyed.

You hear a man rail against the railroad because mail trains are late, but he does not know that the railroad officials are far more anxious than he is to have the trains make schedule time. The delay to the individual does not count for much, but it means heavy fines exacted by the government from the railroad companies. Over fifty thousand dollars have been paid quite recently by the roads on account of late mail trains.

But there must be a halt in this life-killing pace. Unless there is America will become a nation of infirm men and women. We cannot stand the pace. It is killing off the bright and brainy and rugged men, and their off-spring will be weaklings.—Fort Smith News-Record.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improperly treated cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate coughs and prevents serious results. It costs you no more than the unknown preparations and you should insist upon having the genuine in the yellow package. H. T. Pendergrass.

Every man flatters himself that he will finally whip his enemy, and that he will give him a good one when he gets at him.

A CRIMINAL ATTACK

on an inoffensive citizen is frequently made in that apparently useless little tube called the "appendix." It's generally the result of protracted constipation, following liver torpor. Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, prevent appendicitis, and establish regular habits of the bowels. 25c at H. T. Pendergrass' drug store.
