WORK NEEDED ON WATERWAYS

American Rivers and Harbors Demand Attention

Big Appropriations Necessary to Carry on Work of Improvement—Value of the Work

Much interest is felt all over the Mississippi Valley whenever the subject of the improvement of waterways is mentioned. Mr. John A. Fox is special director of the National Rivers and Harbors congress and in the interest of that body has recently made a tour of the United States. A Washington dispatch to the Globe-Democrat gives an interview with Mr. Fox in which he says:

"I have just completed practically the same circuit of the United States that President Taft is now making, having traveled over 15,000 miles since going south of this city last December. It took me down the Atlantic seaboard to Florida; through the Southern states to the Mexican border on the Rio Grand; up the Pacific Coast states from San Diego on the south to Bellingham on the north of Puget Sound, back through the valleys of the Columbia and Missouri rivers, east along the lakes, down to the Ohio and Tennessee rivers and now again to the Atlantic seaboard.

"Throughout that entire journey the pulse of the nation has been quickened for a bigger, better and broader system of waterways improvements. The Pacific coast harbors need immediate appropriations from congress to deepen them and provide for commerce through the Panama Canal. San Diego, Los Angeles, Oakland, Eureka, Portland, Gray's Harbor, Tacoma, Seattle must be provided for more liberally in the future if the Western coast is to reap the full benefit of the great Isthmian cut now being made. The Sacramento and San Joaquin, the Columbia and Snake rivers, on the Western slope, traverse a country that is developing too fast to wait for appropriations made in the old manner. They must receive larger amounts from congress if the country is to receive any marked benefits.

The great region adjacent to the Missouri river in Montana, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri is awakening from the desert, like a huge giant, under the wonderful touch of irrigation and that magnificent artery of traffic can no longer be allowed to remain unused and unserviceable when the farmer in that railroad-bound empire is paying 17 and 18 mills per ton per mile to move his product that could, by a judicious expenditure of money on the great river, be moved for 2½ mills, at the most, by water.

"The people along the Ohio, the Tennessee and the upper Mississippi rivers are clamoring for relief through adequate water transportation, and if every member of congress could have heard the unanimous cry that I have listened to during my 15,000 mile tour, for larger and more regular appropriations on the part of congress for a business like development of our great arteries of traffic, I am sure that relief would be provided, and that quickly. From all that I have gathered throughout this tour I judge the meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, to be held in December, will be attended by fully 5000 of the best business men of the country, bent on securing favorable legislation for our river and harbor improvement at the coming session of congress. Fifty million dollars annually must be provided for, and if current revenues do not warrant such an expenditure then we must issue bonds and begin this great work at once."

NICARAGUAN SITUATION

United States in Sympathy With Revolutionists

It would appear that in the conflict in Nicaragua between the government forces of President Zelaya and the revolutionary forces under Gen. Estrada, the government forces are being worsted.

Gen. Estrada has asked the United States to recognize his authority and made formal request for representation at Washington. A statement showing that it is as yet unable to comply with this request, yet it would appear that the administration would not crowd the ultimate victory of the revolutionists. Washington dispatches has the following:

"The progress of the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua is being watched with keenest interest by the government. The officials of the department of state present an attitude of diplomatically correct neutrality, but it is well understood here that this government is in full sympathy with the Estrada movement against the Zelaya government.

"Those familiar with the government records regarding Central American affairs, with the monopolies by which, it is alleged, President Zelaya has for years crippled the commerce of his country; with the intrigues which have kept all Central America in a ferment and practically stifled republican institutions in Nicaragua, and with Zelaya's many evidences of light regard for the Washington conventions, could but assume that both foreign governments and foreign public opinion would welcome any change in Nicaragua.

"This would be especially true it was said today by persons familiar with conditions, if the movement for the change were headed by a man like Juan J. Estrada, who has a reputation here crediting him with qualities of justice and character."

S. B. Profit is again quartered at the Belding Hotel after an absence of several months during which time he looked after his mining interests in Colorado and visiting his home in Illinois, from which place he came here.

THE OFFICES CONSOLIDATED

Traffic Manager Whitney's Forces Arrive

Missouri and North Arkansas Railroad Occupies Entire Floor in Sanford Building—New Men Here

The furniture for the traffic department of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad offices has arrived from St. Louis and has been placed in position in rooms 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of the Sanford block giving the railroad the entire second floor of the building.

The consolidation of the offices here brings 15 additional men to Eureka Springs, three of whom have families. Manager Whitney's office is in room No. 7. Mr. Whitney has formerly in Eureka Springs long enough for our people to learn that he is a broad minded public spirited gentleman and one who will take to heart all matters pertaining to the welfare of the city. Eureka Springs gladly welcomes him back. He and his estimable family have leased the cottage on Singleton street for their home.

S. M. Childers, who received a hearty welcome from the many friends made during their former stay here.

The three new men are: W. O. Henshaw, who comes from the St. Louis offices; G. Smith comes from the Missouri Pacific road, and T. H. Gaffney comes from Washington City where he has been connected with the navy department. Eureka Springs extends a hearty welcome to these new people and expects to find in them the same genial characteristics that endear the railroad people to the citizens of our town.

BOOK CLUB MEETS

Miss Hazel Dickens Pleasantly Entertains the Members

Miss Hazel Dickens was hostess to the Book Club on Tuesday evening and a large attendance of the members enjoyed the evening. Instructions had been sent to each member to bring something that was "not good enough to keep but too good to give away," as a result of these instructions all sorts, sizes and conditions of packages were brought by the guests.

The meeting was called to order and by previous arrangement each member responded to the roll call by relating an Irish or ducky story. Some of these stories were rich and are being recalled yet by those present, with a broad smile.

After the business meeting was disposed of an advertising contest was announced. Twenty illustrations from well known advertisements were placed on the walls with the names of the advertisers removed and the contestants were instructed to supply the missing names. Mrs. R. G. Floyd was the most successful contestant and carried away a handsome framed picture as the prize.

After the conquest the mysterious packages well wrapped, were placed in a heap on the floor and the party gathered 'round each one selecting a package. The fun began in earnest when these packages were opened and the contents exposed to view. All things imaginable and some others were there.

A social hour was spent over the delicious refreshments served and one and all voted Miss Dickens a delightful hostess.

BROWN'S CORNET BAND

Re-organization of Eureka Springs W. O. W. Players

On Monday evening there was a meeting of the band men of Eureka Springs at which the business of the W. O. W. band was adjusted and closed up and that organization was disbanded. Immediately following this the meeting organized as a new band under the name of Brown's Cornet Band.

The new organization has most of the men who have left the city. Beside these there were a number of new men added. The men enrolled are permanently located here making the band a commendable one.

Brown's Cornet Band will practice faithfully during the winter months under Director Walter Brown and it is confidently expected that before another season this band will be furnishing a high grade of music rendered in the most commendable style. They begin their practice next Friday night.

The officers of the new organization are:

- Geo. B. Kennedy, president. C. E. Perkins, secretary. E. B. Mattox, treasurer. W. H. Brown, director.

The band is composed of the following personnel:

- W. H. Brown, Gibson Farley, M. L. Parker, Newton White, E. B. Mattox, R. R. Alderson, Eaton Cole, Hallie Gibson, Chas. Perkins, J. S. Amick, Chas. Sheldon, Ivor Kennedy, Harry Lucky, John Bergdorf, John Brashear, Geo. Kennedy and one other not yet signed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Amick left for Lawrence, Kansas, yesterday afternoon where they will make their home for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Amick came here several months ago and Mr. Amick opened a law office. Shortly afterward he was taken down with fever which proved of a very obstinate nature. He is now able to be up but is very weak and unable to take up active work. They will probably in the future again become residents of the city and if so it is to be hoped that much pleasanter experiences will be theirs.

EUREKA SPRINGS WATER SUPPLY

Let It Be the Purest Possible

A Small Amount of Cool Investigation Would Probably Save the City Thousands of Dollars

The plan of Col. C. D. James, as outlined in a recent issue of the Times Echo, for increasing and improving the city water supply is a good one, provided a better and cheaper plan is not feasible. Briefly, this plan is to erect a second dam at the water works plant, place filter dams at the head of the reservoir and install an aerating plant.

This plan is not a new idea by any means it having been proposed by others in the past.

The first objection to "Col. James's plan" lies in the fact that the supply will be pond water and can never be made anything else. It may be a high grade of pond water it is true, but pond water none the less. This broad expanse of water exposed to the sun with more or less of debris from the mountain sides will produce undesirable conditions and no amount of aerating will make it pure and wholesome.

The most serious drawback to "Col. James's plan" is the tremendous expense connected with it. It is estimated that $25,000 or $30,000 would carry out this plan but that this could be covered by a tax in district to meet the contingency. The estimate given would probably fall short some $15,000 or $20,000 by the time the second dam was built, filter dams constructed, more land bought and the water shed cleansed and kept so—all of which is proposed. And it should be born in mind to that we would yet have pond water.

A plan has been proposed and was considered in the Commercial Club last spring which has not been proven a failure, which would only involve a small outlay to try out to a finish, which, if found feasible, would cost less than one-fifth the amount of the "Col. James plan", and which would give the city a pure water supply.

When the subject of the city water supply was taken up in the Commercial Club last spring a special committee was appointed to investigate conditions. Mr. J. B. Rosewater was chairman of this special committee. This committee had the ground

A citizen of the state of Arkansas has no right to complain of high taxes and yet vote the democratic ticket.

The man of political aspirations wears a gracious smile and greets you with an out stretched hand. It is possible he'll be near sighted after the election.

It is noted that there are a number of places that have been repaired in the board walks and steps about the city. There is yet some room for work along this line, however.

While the paupers and the insane and cared for like dumb beasts, the wallets of the office holder is made to grow fat with fees FEES, FEES! This constitutes the shame of Arkansas.

The way in which Pittsburg wound up the world's championship series will lead to the inquiry in many quarters of why they didn't do it sooner. But what's the use of asking a question to which everybody knows the answer?

The movement on foot for the betterment of the waterways of the Mississippi valley is one that should receive the support of every citizen whether near one of the proposed improvements or not. "What helps my neighbor, helps me."

Arkansas is a great State whose natural resources are almost beyond comprehension, near the best markets of the world—here are homes for thousands. Why do they go by? Because the politics of the State are vicious; because of the mal-administration of public affairs; because a man does not care to pay a high rate of taxes and get nothing in return.

On with the poultry and pet stock show! It is not the purpose of local breeders to hold a New York, Chicago or St. Louis show, but to awaken an interest in the subject that will lead to "better poultry and pet stock" for Eureka Springs and vicinity. The ability of the American hen to lay eggs into the pockets of her owners, is thoroughly understood, we are convinced would be more in evidence, if the poultry show!

Is there a democratic ticket after an investigation of the receipts from his taxes, will say he is getting received?

The Seattle Exposition closed after serving well its purpose of advertising the Far Northwest as a place worth going to see and staying to look at. It will be a long time before Seattle can celebrate its first centennial.

Do you believe Mr. Voter, that you are using your ballot to the best interests of the State when you cast it to continue in power, men who will go on with the present sort of administration things? If so cast your vote for the party in power; if not, about face, vote the republican ticket and aid in lifting Arkansas to a position in this union which she rightfully deserves.

In every county where it is practicable Republicans should put out a bounty ticket next year. Pulaski county in 1908 had her first full Republican ticket in years, and in spite of the fact that certain Republicans secretly knifed the ticket and even solicited nominees to withdraw, the results were most satisfactory and encouraging. The party was strengthened and given a respectability it had not enjoyed for years. County tickets are great units and builders. Wherever possible a ticket should be put in the field and the Democrats given a genuine opposition. It makes better county government regardless of which ticket wins. The Republican party is growing rapidly in Arkansas and they should be no halt in the progress.—Sun Republican.

PITY THE KNOCKER

Received a letter from a friend in Fayetteville recently, stating that he had expected to visit Eureka Springs for several weeks this fall but that he had been told that Eureka Springs were dry and that Eureka Springs was on the verge of starvation for the want of water. Others visiting the Fayetteville fair heard the same thing. For the information of the benighted citizenship of Fayetteville, the Times would only say that throughout the drouth, not one of the forty or more springs within the corporate limits of the city ever gave the slightest indication of "going dry," but one and all continued to do business "at the old stand." Pity the knocker! His state is a sad one. His malicious flings are the offspring of envy and hate.

THE PLAIN TRUTH

Now is the time when the country newspaper men are receiving letters from men they do not know, and possibly never heard of, stating that the writer is a candidate for some state office and any aid the editor can bestow will be greatly appreciated. On the other hand any aid these politicians can bestow the editor will be appreciated. If the politicians want to advertise their business why in the dickens don't they include a check as evidence of good faith, for the amount of advertising they desire and send along copy properly signed for advertising? Talk about business. If there is any business in a newspaper man giving away his space any more than a merchant giving away his goods we are unable to see where it comes in at.—Hazen Herald. The Times has had a number of communications similar to those referred to above and heartily endorses what the Herald has to say on the subject.

Kitchen Cabinet Kolumns

DEVOTED MAINLY TO WOMAN AND HER INTERESTS

This Department will appear weekly in the future, unless crowded out by other matters. It is labeled "Kitchen Cabinet Kolumns" because it contains a little of everything, and not much of anything. It will be devoted to the various interests of womankind, but no apologies will be made if something along other lines should appear from time to time.

Voice of the Trees

Hold, hold your hand, my brother.
Lift it not up against me—
So sighed the pine on the mountain,
so whispered the oak of the plain.
We guard the source of your rivers
send them pure to the sea.
We hold in our roots and branches the fragrant breath
of the rain.
Through the stroms of bygone ages our kindred and we have stood
And sheltered the pools of the forest and the brooks where
the fishes play;
The toilers for rest have sought us, and the healing breath of the wood
Has strengthened the weak and weary who were fainting by the way.
Hold, hold your hand, my brother
when your children turn away
From the roar of the sleepless
city, grown faint from it feverish
life,
Will you show them a barren
country, where the sun scorch
and wind-storms play,
And say: "Here once was a refuge—a haven of rest from strife;
"Here was earth & the Lord God made it, with the shade of the stately trees,
And here were the shy, sweet wild flowers, smiling up from the sheltered land;
Here was peace and here was healing in the breath of the tempered breeze—
We laid it waste as you see it,
for a handful of gold in the hand!"

A New List of Kings

The pupils at a certain school
were asked to write original compositions on "Kings." The prize was won by a bright youth who perpetrated the following:
The most powerful king is Working.
The laziest king—Shir-king.
A very doubtful king—Smok-
king.
The wittiest king—Jo-king.
The leanest king—Thin king.
The thirstiest king—Drin-king.
The slyest king—Win-king.
The most garrulous king—Talking.

Roast Ham

Wash and scrape carefully and soak in cold water twenty-four hours. Scrape again and dry thoroughly. Make a dough for a stiff paste. Roll this into a sheet large enough to wrap the ham; fold the ham in it and place on a meat rack in the dripping pan. Bake in a moderate oven six hours. On taking from the oven remove the paste
and skin, sprinkle with fine bread crumbs and brown sugar, return to oven for an hour. It is delightful served either hot or cold.

A Good Salad

A delicious salad may be made of grapefruit pulp, white grapes
and stalks of romaine, dressed with oil and vinegar and sweetened slightly.

Pea Croquet

Mash a cupful of stewed peas
with half cupful of cream sauce,
add two well beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of butter, a little pepper and salt. When perfectly cold form into balls, moisten with egg roll in cracker crumbs and fry a delicate brown. These make a nice garnish for fried chicken or lamb chops, with sprigs of mint stuck in them.

Verden Cake

One cup sugar, half cup butter
three egg whites, one heaping teaspoonful baking powder, two cups flour, one teaspoonful Baker's extract of rose. Mix in the order given, sifting the baking powder and flour together. Bake in layers, and cover with an icing made by beating the whites of three eggs in one cup of sugar
for fifteen minutes.

Green Pea Fritters

Stew two cupfuls of peas, and while hot mash to a smooth paste.
Make a batter of three eggs beated separately, a cupful of milk,
three tablespoonfuls of melted butter,
three tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of sugar, a pinch
of salt and stir the paste into it;
blend well and drop by spoonfuls
into smoking hot fat, fry a golden brown, and serve at once.

Meat Roll

Take one pound each of lean beef, veal and pork. Remove all gristle, put through the food
chopper and mix well, adding 1 1/4 cups fine crumbs, 3 well beaten eggs, 1 cup of water, 1 tablespoonful salt, 1/2 teaspoonful of white pepper, 1 grated onion and 1/2 teaspoonful curry powder.
Work thoroughly and shape in a loaf, arrange in a shallow pan, cover the top with thin slices of larder pork and bake 1 1/2 hours
in a hot oven, basting every ten minutes.

Bake Fish in Paper

The following method does away with fishy dishes, disagreeable odors, etc.: Clean and wash
the fish thoroughly, salt and pepper and flour it inside and out (sparingly), then roll in manila paper at least three times. Pinch
the ends of the paper together,
then fold back and pin securely
to prevent the escape of the juice.
Bake in a moderate oven, and allow fifteen minutes more than if baking the same in a pan. When ready to serve, remove the paper,
to which the skin will adhere,
and place the delicious, juicy meat upon the platter. Garnish as desired.

Cooking a Pot Roast

The next time you buy a piece
of beef suitable for a pot roast, try cooking it in the oven in a deep earthen-ware dish, tightly covered. It will require a long time to cook, but it will be very tender and better flavored than when cooked on top of the stove.
Put in about the usual amount of boiling water to begin with, and after that it requires no attention. There is no danger of it burning. As a variation in the manner of serving, try this: Let it cool in the pot liquor, then take it out, place in a baking pan, cover thickly with a well seasoned dressing, (like poultry dressing, with addition of egg) and bake until well browned. Serve hot or cold, with a gravy made by slightly thickening the pot liquor.

Orange Bavarian Cream

One envelope Minute Gelatine
(plain) one half cup boiling water, one cup orange juice, the juice of half a lemon, the whip from one pint cream, sections of orange. Line mould or earth-ern bowl with sections of orange.
Whip a pint single cream and drain and chill the froth. Dissolve the gelatine in the boiling water; add the orange juice and lemon juice and sugar, and stir until the sugar is dissolved; set the dish in ice and water and stir until it begins to thicken; gradually the cream. When the mixture is stiff enough to hold its shape, turn into the orange lined mould. To serve, immerse to the brim a moment in warm water, loosen the mixture if needed at the top, tipping the bowl from side to side to make sure the cream does not spread on a serving dish.

William and his Buttons

William II is in his uniform as soon he is out of bed. To choose which is a problem, for there are two rooms full of them. The Kaiser, however, makes the selection with far less effort than when he chooses the buttons he will wear with the outfit. Buttons are one of his most amusing peculiarities. Huge sets of drawers are literally crammed with buttons of every conceivable character, and the Kaiser spends many of his happiest moments in the pastime of selecting these. He sits, going delightedly through the myriads of buttons that vie with each other in their beauty, placing those he fancies upon the material of the uniform to be worn, to determine their suitability. When the momentous decision has been made, the imperial tailor is called in, and William II goes forth to his varying daily duties.

GUARANTY LAW VOID

Declared Unconstitutional by Federal Court

The Nebraska state banking board was permanently enjoined from enforcing the bank guaranty law passed by the last legislature of that state by a decree entered in the Federal court last week by Judge T. G. Munger, Circuit Judge Vandeventer concurring.

The syllabus held that the enforced guaranty is a violation of Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says that property shall not be taken without due process of law, and that the confinement of banking to corporate bodies, a void provision, was an inducement to the passage of the act and that the entire act is therefore invalid.

The judges cite a number of cases wherein it is stated that the right to do business is a personal and inherent right and not a franchise. It is stated that banking is a business not unlike that of the grocer or dry goods merchant, that the failure of a bank affects a community no differently than the failure of any business institution except in degree only.

The opinion apparently strikes at the very heart of an enforced guaranty. It also wipes out entirely the question of the state to enforce all banking institutions to incorporate.

The way is left open for only a voluntary guaranty act. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Initiation

An unusually interesting meeting of the Ruth Rebekah lodge was held Monday evening a larger membership than ordinary being present. This was due to the initiation ceremonies conferred upon seven new members.

The initiatory rites were conferred upon Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walker, Miss Muse, Mark Casity and Charles Jackson. Those present pronounce the team work excellent.

After the work of the evening was finished a social time was enjoyed during which refreshments were served.

Dickinson-Worden

Dr. W. F. Dickinson left yesterday for Springfield, Mo., where he will be joined by Mrs. Park Worden of this city today and the marriage ceremony will take place this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Dickinson will spend some time in the East on their wedding journey. The date of their return is not definitely known.

While this may come as a surprise to some, yet by close friends of the couple it was not unexpected. Their hosts of friends in Eureka Springs will give a hearty congratulatory welcome on their return.

Birthday Celebration

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Perkins was about the liveliest section of the town last Monday night, the occasion being the celebration of the thirteenth birthday of their son Harry.

It was a real party and many of Harry's friends gathered to help him make it a happy event. The young host received many pretty and useful presents and the occasion was altogether a most pleasant one.

Games were played, delicious refreshments served and the young people returned to their homes tired but happy.

What Thieves Won't Steal.

The last thing the woman did before leaving the flat was to put four rings in the clock on the mantel. "So thieves won't get them," she said.

"I should think that would be simply inviting thieves to run away with them," said her friend. "That is a handsome clock, and thieves like handsome clocks."

"They do," said the woman, "but they never will steal this clock. It ticks too loud. No wise thief will run away with a clock that goes like a threshing machine. If he hears the clock about his person that he is afraid of, for he can stop the clock, but the occupants of the flat are likely to return before he gets safely away, and if a loud-ticking clock is gone, they will miss it the minute they step inside the door, and maybe give him a hot chase for his plunder."

thoroughly examined by State Geologist A. H. Purdue, professor of Geology and Mining at the University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville.

Professor Purdue made a report to this committee which follows:

March 13, 1909. Mr. B. J. Rosewater, Spec. Com., Commercial Club, Eureka Springs, Ark.

Dear Sir: Relating to the prospects of securing a supply of underground water in the ravine below the reservoir from which your city obtains its water supply, I have the following to say:

The formation in which it is proposed to seek water is not as a rule a good water-bearing one. Most of the springs of northern Arkansas emerge from a horizon above this formation, as in the case of those of Eureka Springs.

However, while my confidence in its doing so is not the greatest it is not outside the possibilities for this formation to contain a supply of water adequate to your needs, at the place indicated. Therefore, I recommend what has been proposed by some of your people, namely that you sink a shaft to the depth of 40 or 50 feet in order to thoroughly test the adequacy of the water supply. The following are my reasons for making this recommendation.

1. The continued prosperity of your city depends upon an improvement in the character of the water supplied it.

2. Any plan for improving the character of the water would be very expensive unless an underground supply can be obtained.

3. The great importance of securing a good water supply and the great cost of water means, fully justifies the small outlay necessary to sink the proposed shaft as a prospecting venture.

4. The drill holes which have been sunk in this section of the mountain fall but a few feet below the ground water level. That is, it would go into rocks that are saturated with water. Such being the case, the adequacy of the water supply would depend upon whether or not the rock is sufficiently open to contain a large supply. This can be ascertained by sinking a shaft.

If this plan is carried out, and the shaft enters a promising, open, water-bearing stratum, then the plan proposed, of driving a tunnel through this stratum, transverse to the valley, is a good one. The reason for the last statement is that the ground water is moving through the rocks down the valley, and a tunnel so constructed would intercept the flow in proportion to its length.

Very truly yours,

A. H. Purdue.

This report was made after a careful investigation of conditions and Prof. Purdue's recommendation that a shaft be sunk was not acted upon by the Commercial Club on account of a lack of funds and were informed that the city council refused to take the matter up.

The drill hole, as referred to in the report, was put down by a body of interested citizens and water was found at something like fifty feet. From the report Prof. Purdue evidently is satisfied that the water obtained is "living water" and comes from below the ground water level. Those who tested the water claim that it is pure and sweet.

$400 or $500 this proposed shaft, say 6x6 feet could be sunk to intercept the flow from this water bearing stratum and the exact amount of water to be obtained per foot in twenty-four hours could be estimated. The needs of the city could be supplied, as shown in the accompanying plan, by driving a tunnel transverse to this water bearing stratum, for the required distance to give the proper supply.

Nervous Women

For nervous, tired women, we recommend Cardui. Cardui is a woman's medicine. It acts specifically on the female organs and has a tonic, building effect on the whole system. It contains no harmful ingredients, being a pure vegetable extract. If you suffer from some form of female trouble, get Cardui at once and give it a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. W. W. Gardner, of Paducah, Ky., tried Cardui and writes: "I think Cardui is just grand. I have been using it for eleven years. I am 48 years old and feel like a different woman, since I have been taking it. I used to suffer from bearing down pains, nervousness and sleeplessness, but now the pains are all gone and I sleep good. I highly recommend Cardui for young and old." Try it.
